LABOR SUPPLY

Santa Barbara County has a labor force of approximately 81,000 people, 40,500 of these are employed within the South Coast area comprising Santa Barbara, Carpinteria and the Goleta Valley.

The work force represents a wide diversity of skills and experience, with an unusually large percentage of professional people in the science and engineering fields. In addition to a large pool of semi-skilled and trainable people, the area has an ample number of craftsmen and semi-professionals engaged in a wide variety of occupations ranging from the construction trades to electronic development.

Because of its location, its opportunities for advanced training on an after work hour basis, and its broad economic base, the area attracts a large number of trained, skilled people from the Los Angeles regional labor market.

The following tables indicate employment by industry and starting wage rates for the Santa Barbara Area.
